DETAILED ACTION

Priority

Receipt is acknowledged of papers submitted under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d), which papers have been placed of record in the file.

Claim Objections

Claim 12 is objected to under 37 CFR 1.75(c) as being in improper form because claim 12 fails to provide an active method step. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

Claims 1-2, 6-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Suzuki (6,573,515).

The applied reference has a common assignee with the instant application. Based upon the earlier effective U.S. filing date of the reference, it constitutes prior art only under 35 U.S.C. 102(e). This rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) might be overcome by: (1) a showing under 37 CFR 1.132 that any invention disclosed but not claimed in the reference was derived from the inventor of this application and is thus not an invention "by another"; (2) a showing of a date of invention for the claimed subject matter of the application which corresponds to subject matter disclosed but not claimed in the reference, prior to the effective U.S. filing date of the reference under 37 CFR 1.131; or (3) an oath or declaration under 37 CFR 1.130 stating that the application and reference are currently owned by the same party and that the inventor named in the application is the prior inventor under 35 U.S.C. 104, together with a terminal disclaimer in accordance with 37 CFR 1.321(c). For applications filed on or after November 29, 1999, this rejection might also be overcome by showing that the subject matter of the reference and the claimed invention were, at the time the invention was made, owned by the same person or subject to an obligation of assignment to the same person. See MPEP § 706.02(l)(1) and § 706.02(l)(2).

As to claims 1, 2, 7-10, and 12-13, Suzuki discloses a charged particle beam projection-exposure system, comprising:

an illumination optical system (1,3) to direct charged particles onto a region of a reticle (10), the reticle having low-scattering regions (57) and high-scattering regions (59); and a projection optical system (12) downstream the illumination optical system to direct the beam to a substrate, the projection optical system comprising a first projection lens (5) closer to the substrate, a second projection lens (14), closer to the substrate, and a cut-off plate (17) between the reticle and the back focal plane of the first projection lens, the cut-off plate defining an aperture to block propagation of the patterned beam scattered from the high-scattering regions of the reticle (col. 7, lines 2-50, col. 8, line 60-col. 9, line 10, and fig. 3).

Suzuki differs from the claimed invention the cut-off plate is not disclosed as blocking at least 90 % of the scattered beam, however since beams scattered from the high scattered region may cause distortions in the image, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time of invention to block 90% of the scattered beam.

As to claims 2 and 11, Suzuki discloses everything claimed, as applied above, in addition the cut-off plate is located between the first projection lens and the back focal plane (see fig. 3).

Art Unit: 2877

As to claim 6, Suzuki discloses everything claimed, as applied above, in addition the charged particle beam is an electron beam (col. 7, line 10). Suzuki fails to provide the acceleration voltage, however it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time of invention to provide an accelerating voltage of 50kV since controlling the beam voltage will help to maintain resolution of the pattern elements by controlling the penetration depth of the electrons.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 3-5 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: the prior art of record, taken alone or in combination, fails to disclose or render obvious the cut-off plate assembly including multiple cut off plates.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
